Description: Cartoonist, illustrator, writer, author, performance artist, graphic facilitator, storyteller, keynote speaker, consultant, pop culture historian, master maze maker, actor, curator, and a whole bunch of other stuff.

Check out the Live Programs tab on his Mazetoons website for further descriptions. For example:

Once Upon a Toon - A lively and engaging program featuring storytelling and live cartoon illustration. I draw the stories as I tell them! Working on stage with a large easel and marker in hand with a quick wit and even quicker pen you'll find out why they call me the fastest draw in the east! A single show features a short guessing game where kids guess what I am drawing, two stories and a short closing followed by a Q and A. On average a single presentation yields up to 17 illustrations!

With dozens of different stories to choose from, I have stories to fit many themes. I also have a few favorites that work well with all age audiences. There is something for everyone in the program. My goal is to keep the whole family entertained not just the kids. It's like watching a picture book be created right before your very eyes.

Rates: $300ish depending on the program and travel. Will do a bit of bargaining. Prefers a half deposit.

Recommended by: Becky @ New Castle is hiring him for the first time in 2018, but he was the highlight of the PaLA Performer's Showcase in 2017.
